

Dolls From Around the World

Domains:

Appreciation of language, literature, and culture

Written presentation

Benchmarks:

Gain familiarity with different cultural products and practices

Describe people

Description:

In this task, pupils are asked to read descriptions of dolls and match each description with the appropriate doll. They then draw and describe what they think an Israeli doll might look like. Finally, they imagine what one of the dolls would say if it were able to talk.

Rationale for choice of topic:

Clothing is a subject that encourages pupils to process information by describing, comparing, and contrasting. Dolls are a popular vehicle for learning about the traditional dress of different countries.

Suggestions for implementation (prior to and/or during):

Call pupils' attention to the fact that people from different places dress differently. Discuss differences in dress that they may have noticed in their own environments (e.g., uniforms, religious head coverings). Have pupils compare how different age groups dress (e.g., their parents and grandparents). Use the discussion to familiarize pupils with the relevant vocabulary, and have them practice using adjectives correctly. You may have the class practice matching pictures with written descriptions.

Note: It is very important to teach pupils how to use a checklist before they are given this performance task.

Suggested time allotment:

One lesson

Prerequisites:

- Familiarity with relevant vocabulary (clothing, parts of the body, places, etc.)
- Ability to use descriptive language
